Activity in the JIN Program Office

Byrne Grant RFP

We conducted a debriefing and continued contract negotiations with OnlineBusiness Systems of Portland Oregon, the vendor selected for the JIN Criminal History Query (CHQ) project. I also met with their proposed project manager and we have begun identifying needed documentation for review and scheduling interviews. I am hoping to have a contract in place next week and for work to begin by November 1.

Summary Offender Profile (SOP)

Lisa Lockman is the new project manager from Templar for SOP. We talked today about why the application went down last week (it is back up now), and on the proposed modifications to the system and additional documentation. We have agreed to explore substituting this work for the current obligation to add a JBRS interface, and Templar has promised to deliver a proposal by the end of next week.

I also met with Carol Meraji from DOC on Wednesday to discuss their proposed use of SOP. We identified two opportunities for me to present the application to DOC personnel, which will give me a better sense of how the application might assist in DOC's business process.

Miscellaneous

► I prepared and presented an E-citations proposal to a subcommittee of the Traffic Records Committee. I later discussed the proposal with Chris Madill of the WSP and am scheduled for a presentation to the Traffic Records Oversight Committee next Tuesday. Assuming their support I will present the proposal to the Board at the November meeting.

► We received an update to the RCW charge table to include all changes effective 2004. I will post the document to the website as soon as we have confirmed its completeness. Thanks to Julia Appel of the AOC and Toni Korneder of the WSP for their assistance in this process.

Driver's license renewal online Nov. 1 (Olympian 10/07)

Beginning Nov. 1, most motorists will be able to renew their licenses with a click of the computer mouse, much as they can already renew car tabs, reserve a campsite or apply for a business license.
